

MITCH TAMBO

Rising First Nations artist Mitch Tambo is a new voice for a generation seeking music that cuts across cultures.

Mitch Tambo is a proud Gamilaraay man, who is blending traditional Aboriginal sounds and language with contemporary beats and production. The multi-talented recording artist first stunned the nation when he performed a spine-tingling First Nations version of the iconic John Farnham anthem, You're the Voice on the 2019 finale of Australia's Got Talent. Proudly wearing the traditional Dhinawan and Murray crest and feathers of his people, Mitch's performance was powerful and won the hearts of Australia as well as a host of other countries.

The time was right for Mitch and he was globally embraced. His independent album Guurrama-Li soared up the iTunes World Music charts in Australia, the UK, US and Europe reaching #1 in Australia, #1 in Denmark, #1 in Malta, #2 in the UK and #34 in the US.

Tambo's brand new single 'LOVE' is an upbeat anthem, sung in Gamilaraay language that delivers a powerful message of hope to the world undergoing crisis.

HIGHLIGHTS

Performed his single 'Together' at Eurovision Australia Decides

Performed 'You're The Voice' alongside John Farnham and Olivia
Newton-John at the Fire Fight Concert

Started his own content series
TAMBO TALK focusing on positive messaging during COVID-19.

The series will be available across
Mitch Tambo platforms

 Mitch Tambo

 michtambo

www.michtambo.com

